

HBPR Guide To Rehoming Your Pet

Homeward Bound Pet Rescue is a 501(c)(3), non-profit organization located in Gilmer County, Georgia. The all volunteer staff is dedicated to the rescue and rehabilitation of homeless companion animals that have been abandoned, owner surrendered or rescued from local high-kill county shelters.

Many times people contact us about assisting with rehoming a pet. When we can help with that situation, we will. Sadly, we are not able to help everyone that calls.

If you find that you need to rehome a pet, there are other resources available to you. Below is a list of websites to help you understand how to give your pet a better chance at rehoming, along with a list of other organizations that might be able to help.

Your best resource is your personal network of friends and family. Taking your pet to a county shelter should be the last option. Please learn about rehoming to help your pet find a new home.
